

A Happy Day

Today is Sunday. Kate and Tom get up at eight o'clock in the morning. They brush their teeth and wash their faces. Then, they have milk and cereal for breakfast.

At half past ten in the morning, they go to the park. Kate rides a bicycle with her friend, Jenny. Tom plays football with his friends. At half past two in the afternoon, they sit under the tree. They have a rest and have some food.

At half past four in the afternoon, they go home. by bus. They feel happy because they spend so much time having fun with their friends. It's a happy day!
