The Missing Coupons

Last Friday, Judy's dad finished a big project. His boss was very delighted and gave him some coupons from a restaurant that served Japanese cuisine. Therefore, Judy's dad took his family to the restaurant for dinner.

When they arrived at the restaurant, they were stunned by the magnificent harbour view. As they were all starving, they ordered lots of food. For the starters, they ordered the crab roe salad. Mum likes sushi very much, so they had a sushi set, shabu-shabu and ramen for the main courses. Finally, they ordered a chocolate cake for the dessert. All the food was delectable. They loved this restaurant not just because of the good food quality, but also the impressive service.

After they finished their meal, Judy's dad asked for the bill. When he was going to pay, he couldn't find the coupons in his wallet. He searched again and again but in vain. He was very embarrassed and had no idea of what to do. At this moment, Judy and her brother, Jack, laughed out loudly. Judy took out the coupons from her bag. 'Surprised?' said Judy. 'How dare you play trick on me?' said Judy's dad. Everyone laughed in happiness.

It was truly a memorable evening!
