

The Most Important Person in my Life

My mum is the most important person in my life. She is thin and has a straight, long hair. Her complexion is white. Her eyes are big and her mouth is small. She is supportive, patient and forgiving.

My mum supports me all the time and she is always by my side. When I am upset, she is the one who is with me, listens to me and keeps encouraging me. She cares me not only by words, but also with her hugs. She is very patient. She always takes time to explain things to me carefully. She spends lots of time doing revision with me. She is forgiving too. Though I always let her down and behaving rudely, she still loves me and is with me.

My mum is the most important person in my life. Without her, I won't be existing in this world. I admire her for taking good care of everyone else besides her. When I am sad, she always stays with me and listens to me patiently. She teaches me to be kind and polite. She also reminds me -to be honest and responsible. We should not tell lies. Besides, we have to take up the responsibility to do the things we promised to.

We have a lot of unforgettable moments together. I feel warm and safe when I am with my mum. Thus, she is the most important person in my life.
